USDA Initiates Cotton Ginnings Report

USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service will collect and disseminate statistics on cotton ginnings during the 1991 crop year. Bales ginned to date will be reported bimonthly for States and the U.S., and monthly at the county level. The March end-of-season report will contain numbers of running bales ginned, 480-pound bales ginned, and average bale weight. The May report will contain county, State, and U.S. detailed data. This data series was formerly published by the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census.
